Into the Light by Mike George

This was one of 4 Club films with the same subject matter. No fancy gimmicks. Just a well thought out set with candles, the lighting gave it just the right mood. The camera was most of the time in one position, which proves you don't always need lots of fancy angles to get the message across. The actor was brilliant not only with his words, his facial expressions were first class. It was just the right length to hold interest.

The Grim Reaper finish worked well, as did the clang of the bells at close of film. This was voted Overall Winner and the Best Club entry by all four judges. Well done.

Thank you for supporting SoCo. Giving us the chance to view this very well made production.
